Study Or Get Out, Is Rule
In Ohio's Crowded Colleges

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Students at three state-owned universities were cautioned today to keep their noses in their books or be replaced by more deserving knowledge-seekers, preferably war veterans.

Officials at Ohio State, Miami and Ohio universities reported that postwar shortages are necessitating a boost in academic standards. They said there just isn't room for everyone who wants to go to college and indicated the less-diligent students will be weeded out.

All three institutions reported record-breaking enrollments for the new semester coupled with shortages of housing facilities, teachers and classrooms.

At Athens, President John C. Baker of Ohio university announced the school could accept no more out-of-state students for the second semester opening Feb. 4 because it already is short 200 housing units for students who have applied.

Rigidly Enforced
He instructed the faculty to "rigidly enforce" scholastic requirements to determine students "with low marks and get them out of the way for veterans who have the right to get an education."

At Oxford, students already harried with first-semester examinations this week were told by Miami university officials that if they failed they would have "extreme difficulty" in returning at a later date, reported Gilson Wright, publicist.

"The readmission rule whereby students dropped for poor scholarship may be admitted on probation still will be in effect, but the student who fails simply will find no housing facilities available when he attempts to return next fall," Wright quoted one spokesman as saying.

President Howard Bevis of Ohio State—which turned away more than 5,000 applicants at the beginning of the current quarter—announced the committees considering readmission of low-scholarship pupils would be "much stricter."

See: Trade Stimulus
"Britain needs this credit and she needs it now," the President declared in a special message to the senate and house. "It will enable her to buy from the world the supplies of food and raw materials which are essential to the life and work of the British empire."

"At the same time it will keep open a market for those surpluses of the United States which are customarily exported to the United Kingdom."

U.S. Won't Divulge
Results Of Pacific
Test of Atom Bomb

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The house naval committee today approved a legal ban against disclosure to foreign governments of technical data obtained in the planned Pacific ocean atom bomb tests.

The proviso written by the Navy department and approved intact by the committee includes a clause giving the secretaries of war and navy some leeway in disclosing data to foreign governments.

Rep. Cole (R-NY) objected to the provision stipulating that the secretaries may disclose to foreign governments that part of the test results which "they may determine to be not prejudicial to the best interests of the United States."

The committee approved the navy version after Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said members could strengthen it by amendment on the house floor.

Authorize Ship Destruction
The secrecy requirement was included in a bill authorizing the navy to use approximately 100 American and captured enemy warships in the Pacific tests beginning next May, but requiring "consent" of the congressional naval committees to be obtained for the selected vessels.

Vice Adm. W. H. Blandy, in charge of the forthcoming tests, told the committee he expected a directive from the joint chiefs of staff imposing strict security regulations.

On the senate side, a witness suggested the senate atomic energy committee call in some psychiatrists for advice on what he called the mania of national sovereignty. The committee is considering drafting atomic energy control legislation.

Watson Davis, director of science service, declared that peoples, like persons, suffer from manias. "One of these is national sovereignty," he said.

Planned Next May
The joint chiefs of staff have put Blandy in charge of the tests scheduled to start next May off Bikini atoll in the Marshall Islands.

Grant got the committee interested in his idea by telling State Byrnes told reporters yesterday that this government would invite representatives of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission to watch the atomic blasts.

Vinson at first agreed with Blandy that presents secrecy policy on all atomic matters should be strict. But later the chairman said he too, thought there should be a legal ban against divulging any technical knowledge obtained in the tests.

Several other members of the committee also backed Grant's proposal.

Steel Price Rise
U. S. Steel Corp. asserted only yesterday that an increase of much more than $4 would be necessary even to approximate its workers' demand for wage increases.

This estimate was made by Chairman of the Board Irving S. Olds who said it raised the question whether such an increase would be "wise and in the public interest."

Other than the fact Fairless conferred by telephone with Reconstruction Director John W. Snyder, his activities in Washington have been unknown.

Steel industry men said they did not know what Fairless had been told when he reportedly got the "last word."

The OPA, in a special report to President Truman, was reported to have held fast to its figure of $2.50 a ton.

SPEECH EVENT WON BY RAVENNA YOUTH
COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Chris DeJohn of Ravenna today took top honors in the finals of 21st annual Prince of Peace declamation contest sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches.

DeJohn, who competed in a field of six, was awarded $200 and a four-year college scholarship.

Second place went to Richard Hinterleiter of Canton, who won $100 and a two-year scholarship.

County Clerk Arraigned On Triple Embezzlement
FREMONT, Jan. 30.—George W. Miller, dep. Sandusky county clerk, will go on trial Monday before Judge Fred Wickham of Delaware, on three counts of embezzlement.

Miller, in an arraignment two weeks ago, pleaded innocent. A special grand jury indicted him on charges of taking money from several court funds. He was removed last fall by Judge A. V. Baumann on charges of mishandling a trust fund.

Married Again
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30.—The Edgar Bergens not only have been married again, they've been married again secretly.

Weeks elapsed between the comedian's first marriage to the former Frances Westernman in Mexico last June and their announcement.

And today the news was out that they did a retake, this time in a Methodist church here on Jan. 19.

Camp Perry To Close
CAMP PERRY, Jan. 30.—Military personnel at Camp Perry is being assigned to new stations and as soon as the task is complicated the installation will be returned to the state of Ohio, Lt. Col. John O. Givens, commanding officer at the camp, said today.

Fire Levels Barn On Fenton Farm
Fire, believed to have started from the exhaust of a tractor which was operating a shredding machine, destroyed a barn on the Ray Fenton farm, a mile and a half west of the intersection of Route 62 and the Western Reserve road, at 3 p. m. yesterday.

Canfield and Greenfield fire departments fought the blaze and saved the nearby farm home, although the sides of the house were blistered from the heat of the blaze.

Fenton said four calves were burned to death in the fire along with some farm implements and the winter's store of fodder and hay.

Approximately 30 cows and the several horses were saved.

Fenton told Fire Chief Harry Doyle of Canfield that he believed a spark, jutting for the exhaust of the tractor, ignited the fodder which was being shredded.

The entire barn structure, which measured 40 by 60 feet, was destroyed.

Strike Picture At A Glance

(By Associated Press)
Continuing labor disputes throughout the country keep idle approximately 1,390,000 workers.

Major developments:
AUTOMOTIVE—Top officials of General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers plan to begin wage negotiations with special federal mediator as government attempts to end 71-day old strike of 175,000 employees in GM plants.

ADMINISTRATION—New strike control bill, substitute for fact-finding legislation, wins widespread support in national house of congress, measure calls for national labor management mediation board, includes restrictive provisions.

STEEL—Government reported to have proposed "last word" to steel industry on what price increases it will approve in interests of settling strike of nearly 750,000 CIO Steelworkers; more than 43,000 workers in allied industries made idle by 10-day walkout.

SHIPPING—Tie up of nearly all shipping in New York harbor, world's busiest, threatened by strike Monday by 3,500 AFL tugboat workers in support of wage-hour demands.

UTILITIES—Scheduled strike of 3,500 CIO electric power workers in Ohio averted as federal labor department arranges conference between union leaders and officials of three companies involved in wage dispute.

FARMING—Officials of major farm organizations evince little enthusiasm to proposals by midwestern farmers for nationwide marketing holiday by farmers against industrial walkouts.

Temporary Truce Avoids
Power Shutdown In Ohio

With a temporary strike truce in union, who said there would be no work stoppage during negotiations.

The union is seeking 20 cents an hour wage increases for 3,500 member-employees of the Ohio Edison Co., the Ohio Power Co., and the Dayton Power & Light Co.

Job For Fact Finders
Assistant Labor Secretary John Gibson planned separate conferences with union and management spokesmen today, to be followed by a joint discussion. Gibson was understood to have suggested a fact-finding committee to decide the wage issue.

The union president said his organization would accept such arbitration, but whether the companies would agree was not announced.

Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach, who called the conferences, opened yesterday's proceedings, then turned the session over to Gibson, after announcing:

"We have definite commitments that there will be no strike so long as the conferences are in progress."

Fisher then telegraphed local unions not to strike pending the outcome of negotiations.

At the same time, another union threatened walkout—at the Windsor Power Co.'s Beech Bottom plant in West Virginia—also was postponed pending Washington negotiations, thus deferring a possible blackout of the industrialized upper Ohio valley.

Lausche In Capital
Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who called the disputants together in a conciliation effort last week, was in Washington today to discuss other matters with federal officials, but there was a possibility that he, too, might participate in the power conferences.

Before the governor left here yesterday, more than 80 farmers from various parts of Ohio beseeched him to do all in his power to avert the strike, indicating they might take matters into their own hands in case the stoppage occurred.

H. H. Packler of Plymouth, Richland county, who acted as general spokesman for the group, declared "what we may be forced to do we cannot now say." He commented that the farmers probably had the best reason of any group for striking because of alleged injustices which he said they had been forced to endure.

COLUMBIANA STORE ENTERED BY THIEVES
COLUMBIANA, Jan. 30.—Thieves burglarized the H. H. Lehman hardware store on S. Main st. sometime during the night and made off with several socket wrenches and hunting coats after chiseling through the side of a large safe.

Sheriff George Hayes, called to the scene this morning, ordered the store closed until an expert could be called to examine the safe for fingerprints. The combination lock on the safe was untouched.

H. H. Lehman, owner and operator of the store, reported that the safe contained little cash but that he could not estimate the loss until an inventory is taken.

The thieves entered the building after climbing a telephone pole to reach a rear window in the store.

Federal Conciliator Dewey
Sitting In On Detroit
Negotiations

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Jan. 30.—Concluding conferences at noon with management and labor leaders in the General Motors strike, Special Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey announced across-the-table negotiations will be resumed this afternoon.

The session will get under way at 2:30 p. m. in offices in the General Motors building. Top corporation and UAW-CIO leaders were scheduled to participate, along with the entire union negotiating committee.

Dewey offered no comment on the resumption of discussions. R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW, emerged from a conference with the federal trouble shooter in an affable mood but made no statement.

Month's Stalemate
Negotiations between the two parties have been stalemated for nearly a month and Dewey was assigned by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach to try to get the two parties to resume conferences looking to a settlement of the wage dispute that has idled 175,000 production workers for more than 10 weeks.

Dewey conferred first today with C. E. Wilson, GM president, and later with top officers of the CIO United Automobile Workers union. He did not disclose what was being discussed at the separate conversations following yesterday's announcement that both parties had agreed to renew the wage discussions.

Dewey's additional meetings with the opposing leaders in the wage battle led to speculation he was seeking to sidetrack subordinate issues and get the conferees to agree to immediate discussion of the wage issue.

Wilson was expected to participate in the renewed conferences with the UAW for the first time. Union arguments have been led by Vice President Walter P. Reuther.

Dewey expected to run into the wage increase demand that has been the major issue. The union originally asked a 30 per cent raise, later brought its figure in line with a governmental board's recommendation for 19½ cents an hour and then reinstated the higher demand when the corporation did not agree to the compromise.

The mediation plans were responsible for adjournment until Feb. 11 of a National Labor Relations board hearing charging General Motors with unfair labor practices.

Trial Examiner Gerard D. Reilly, who conducted the 30-day sessions, said both GM and the UAW had asked adjournment yesterday to avoid hampering conciliation efforts.

Reuther, NLRB witness in both sessions, testified yesterday General Motors had failed to bargain in good faith by refusing to open its books to prove ability or inability to pay the 30 per cent increase demanded.

General Motors declined to open its books, and refused to participate in the presidential fact-finding board's proceedings if a show of its financial status was required.

Allies Knew of '44
Plot Against Hitler

NUERNBERG, Jan. 30.—The 1944 bomb plot against Adolf Hitler was known to the late President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, high Vatican officials and others outside Germany months before the unsuccessful coup, according to hitherto unpublished documents.

President Roosevelt was said to have received progress reports on "Plan Valkyrie"—the code name for the July 20 assassination attempt—from operatives of the Office of Strategic Services in Switzerland, informed by an anti-Nazi member of the German diplomatic corps.

A sworn statement by Dr. Immanuel Schaeffer, a propaganda expert under Goebbels, said that Churchill was informed of the plot by an anti-Nazi Swedish industrialist.

A German general told interrogators the Vatican was informed indirectly by Adm. Wilhelm Canaris, chief of the German counter intelligence, through papal offices in Vienna.

So What?

Announcement of new agreements between negotiators in the Ford and Chrysler divisions of the automobile industry, together with signs that other industrial deadlocks may be broken, suggests that the work stoppage crisis may be passing.

The steel industry is still the key. Without steel, no matter how much progress may be made in reaching agreements elsewhere, a vast part of our industry must suffer from the bad feeling that is crippling industrial reconversion.

William H. Davis, former WLB chairman, has pointed out that we stand to learn a great deal from our troubles. We are watching a grim demonstration of a fact that needed no demonstrating—that America's economic welfare is at the mercy of a few persons who have the most directly to gain by preserving it.

If the purpose of strikes were to prove that the United States can be made or broken by the whims of a handful of men who hold trusteeships of power in management and labor unions, that purpose now would be fulfilled. But no proof was needed.

The United States can move ahead or be forced to fall back by the judgment of these men, or their lack of judgment. Even the government has no power to control them, except as they choose to be controlled. Should they choose to be irreconcilable, thereby abandoning their right to do business as partners in private enterprise, they can kill private enterprise.

There can be no doubt, in view of what already has happened and is still happening, that this power of life and death is in immediate question. Now that the demonstration of the power has been staged, the public must ask, "So what?"

The great majority of the people, who are neither management nor organized labor, yet must accept the consequences of the decisions made by management and organized labor, are angrily aware of being marched up the hill and back down again. But why? No proof is required to make Americans aware that they are dependent on the smooth operation of their industrial economy, or that they can be hamstringing by a breakdown in industrial relations.

During the century and a-half of the development of the new society founded on this continent by men seeking freedom, we have had only one continuous advantage over other societies—our ability to work together to get things done.

That was the new nation's bulwark against its enemies. It has been the American secret in peace and war, a secret fatally underestimated by Germany in two world wars and before that by Great Britain, France and Spain. Now we ourselves—or persons among us—are threatening to destroy the foundation of our strength as the world's most productive nation. Why?

Why are we witnessing a dreary demonstration that the United States can be paralyzed? Who wants it to happen? The point has been proved—so what?

Tentative Conclusions

It never can be denied that the war emergency presented the evangelists of a planned and regimented economy enough rope to hang themselves.

The only question is how well they performed the execution.

Tentative conclusions on their performance are beginning to take shape in the dust raised by the scuffle over reconversion.

1. While the war emergency lasted in fact, the shortcomings of a planned economy as administered by Washington were forgiven in recognition of the need for unity.

2. With the war emergency existing only in theory, the shortcomings of a planned economy as administered by Washington are being called as the people see them.

3. The Truman administration's fumbling efforts to keep control of the price structure with one hand and remodel the wage structure with the other hand is not planned economy at all, but a crude mixture of government control and party politics.

4. The American consumer, who is long-suffering only when there is some evident purpose to be fulfilled, is conditioned by experience to expect he can buy what he wants to buy unless there is a good reason for not being able to get it. He never will accept as a good reason that someone with official authority decided not to let him have it; the United States is not Russia.

5. The upshot of the floundering by economic planners who feel themselves slipping and resort to desperate measures to save themselves is bound to be their eventual ruin. The harder they struggle to keep free enterprise from asserting itself, the stronger will be the assertions. The war is over and the economic planners and regimenters soon will be departing with the captains and the kings.

An Assumption About Assumptions

President Robert M. Hutchins of University of Chicago has told a Senate committee studying the problem of atomic energy that if the United States is going to assume an atomic war is coming "we had better start the war this morning." Dr. Hutchins says there is no use trying to make any constructive plans for the future if we assume there is going to be war, because any war we have will be so destructive civilization will be destroyed.

That is putting the case strongly. Dr. Hutchins may be underestimating the resiliency of so-called civilization; it has withstood many shocks that men were sure would be too much for it. But if an assumption about assumptions is in order, it might be that to assume the way to avert another war is to assume there won't be one is to be impudent to history.

The way to avert another war, if it can be done, is to keep it at arm's length, like anything else that threatens to destroy civilization. That will entail a full understanding of everything that might cause war and of everything that will be entailed if war occurs. Atomic energy, of course, is included. The United States must know all about its potentialities not only for war but for peace.

The best war prevention news since the Germans cried for mercy and the Japanese saw their error is the announcement that the United States will try to learn more about the potentialities of atomic explosions in naval defense through experiments with discarded vessels. Better yet would be an announcement that the United States intends to do everything in its power to promote the ultimate use of atomic energy in place of present sources of energy.

Properly Fitting Shoes Prevent Foot Ills

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

AN ENORMOUS number of people are affected with some degree of foot trouble. While improvement in the general design of modern shoes has occurred since 1900, nevertheless it would appear that more and more people suffer from troubles affecting the feet. In many instances, there is only discomfort from the wearing of poorly fitting shoes, but in other cases total disability occurs, because the feet are broken down almost completely.

There are countless young children with weak feet. Growing boys and girls with pronated feet, that is, feet that turn over on the inside edge, find that the difficulty interferes with normal active play, and is exhausting. There are many young men and women who find themselves unable to take part in sports or other physical activities.

Proper Shoes
In the prevention of foot troubles, the proper fitting of shoes is probably one of the most important factors. Feet differ in shape, in the height of the arch and in step. Many physicians do not believe that the toe of the shoe need be wide enough to permit actual spread or separation of the toes as in the bare foot, but of course, the toes should not be crowded.

There should be ample width for the spread of the metatarsal bones, which are the bones just behind the toes. Most of the troubles which come from improper shoes are traceable to faulty construction of the front half.

Suag Heel
The heel of the shoe should, of course, fit snugly and so far as the height of the heel is concerned, there would appear to be little harm in wearing shoes with high heels on special occasions, but their continued use may not only damage the feet but may also produce strain on the leg muscles and back muscles.

If you have foot troubles, the first step in correcting them is a visit to a physician, preferably one who specializes in orthopedics.

He will make a careful study of the feet, including X-ray plates when they are needed. Once he has determined the type of trouble present, the necessary steps for correction can be taken.

This may mean wearing supportive shoes, exercises, hot and cold bathing, and perhaps even operative treatment. Of course, the prescribing of the proper type of shoes will not be neglected.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A. B.: When a cyst forms in the breast, is an operation necessary or does it absorb?
Answer: A cyst in the breast usually is not absorbed. However, it may be in occasional instances. In all instances it may not be necessary to remove the cyst, as it may cause no great difficulty. If it is bothering you, you should consult a physician as to whether he believes an operation is required.

Grain Shortage Shown In Department's Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Fresh evidence that the country faces a grain shortage which may cut livestock production and reduce wheat exports came from the Agriculture department today.

The agency's quarterly report on stocks of grain and off farms showed less corn Jan. 1 than on the same date of 1944—a year in which an acute corn shortage forced many farmers to liquidate livestock.

The corn supply at the start of the year was placed at 1,976,389,000 bushels, or about 10,000,000 bushels less than a year ago and about 30,000,000 bushels less than on Jan. 1, 1944.

The figures on quantity do not tell the full story. This year's corn is of much poorer quality than that of either 1944 or 1945.

Outlay In Benefits For Jobless Highest In History of BUC

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—The Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today its outlay for 1945's last quarter exceeded income for the first time in the BUC's seven-year history.

BUC Administrator Charles H. Jones announced that payments for the quarter totaled $19,041,388 while contributions from employers amounted to only $15,747,705.

For each $1.00 of contributions received the bureau disbursed $1.21 in benefit payments, Jones explained. In former years benefit payments have averaged about 19 cents for each $1.00 in contributions received.

December Highest
The administrator said Ohioans received an all-time monthly high of $7,740,007 in jobless benefits during last December. Payments for the entire year totaled $21,498,770, an increase of 1,877 per cent over $1,087,608 paid in 1944.

Jones said peak years were 1939 and 1940 when payments totaled $8,867,439 and $24,615,596 respectively.

He also reported the Ohio bureau had $2,500,455 to unemployed and employed servicemen during 1945 under the readjustment allowance provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

Payments under that law totaled $2,449 in July, 1944, the last full month prior to V-J day, compared with payments of $553,911 in November and $1,103,770 in December.

OHIO PASTORS HEAR BISHOP OXMAN; SUNDAY SCHOOL TRAINING PLAYED

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Bishop G. Bromley Oxman of the Methodist church for the New York area thinks Protestants throughout the nation should protest the stationing of an American government representative at the Vatican.

The bishop told the 27th annual Ohio pastors convention here last night.

"The time has come for Protestants right across this nation to make it abundantly clear to the President we do not want a representative or ambassador to a church even though it claims to be a state."

The clergyman also is president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Says Sunday School a "Farce"
His statement climaxed a busy day for the 2,300 delegates who heard Dr. William S. Shimer, president of Marietta college, assert present Sunday schools were a "farce" and that World War III was imminent.

Dr. Shimer told the delegates: "Nothing can prevent war but religion and education, and we didn't start early enough to prevent the third World war. If we begin now we can halt the fourth or the fifth." He predicted World War III would be fought "within 20 years."

Criticizing present Sunday schools as being "mere indoctrination centers," Shimer charged they are turning out "generation after generation of religiously illiterate children and adults."

He cited these church needs:

1. A teacher-training school for every community's Sunday schools.
2. A graded course of study from childhood to adult years in every church to cover primitive religions, the comparison of various religions, psychology of religion and the relation of religion to art, music and other phases of life.
3. "Some sort of technique and vocabulary" to reach "the unchurched."

Film Fans Will Find Newcomers In Top Roles As Hollywood Tests Popularity of Budding Talent

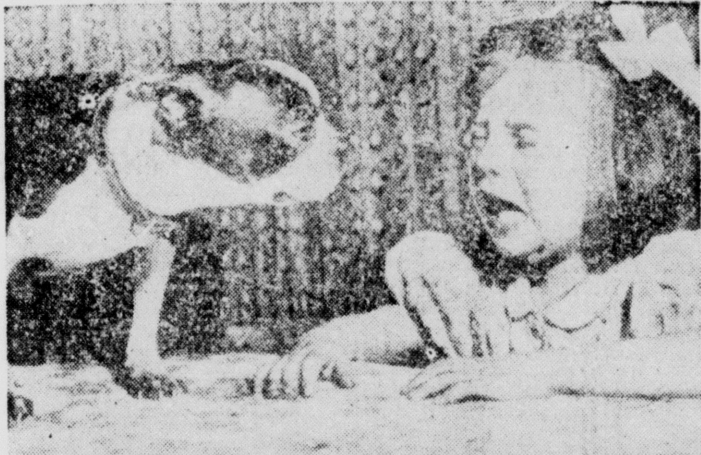

Whatever atomic energy and other new-fangled things may do to our way of life, it's movies that are in for the most sweeping immediate change in the post-war era. And you'll notice it first in the number of new stars and starlets on the screen.

Naturally, there's going to be a battle for survival between old and new favorites, with a lot of factors favoring the latter.

What Can Ya Do?

If there's anything "Peevee" can't stand, it's a crying woman. There's little Francine Opon weeping buckets of tears because "Punkin," the pedigreed Boston terrier who was her pal, was killed by an auto near her home in Chicago. A newspaper reader gave her "Peevee" but Francine's grief is unrelieved. "Peevee" is doing his best to help but his expression is one of hopelessness.

Fire Sweeps Downtown Charleston

Braving near-zero temperatures, firemen fought for eight hours to bring under control a million-dollar fire which swept two city blocks in downtown Charleston, W. Va. Seven office buildings and warehouses were wrecked by the flames. Firemen are shown, 12 hours after fire started, still pouring water into the damage.

LOVE ME LITTLE--LOVE ME LONG

LOVE LAUGHS at feet and inches just as loudly as it does at lock-smiths. So, the little chap with the bow and arrow chuckled happily in Paris, France, when he found Sgt. Glen Bagley, Chicago, and Cecile Martinez, Oran, Africa, interested in each other. The sergeant is 6 feet, 4 inches tall, while Miss Martinez, who will become his bride on Feb. 15, is just 4 feet, 10 inches. The bride-elect is a telephone operator in the U. S. Army, having joined up when the Yanks invaded Africa in 1942. (International)

A MAN OF WAR--A MAN OF PEACE

THERE IS A STRIKING CONTRAST in these two photographs of Harold Pellow of Detroit. At the left, an exhausted Marine, he is shown in one of the most-published war pictures as he returned after two days of heavy beach fighting during the battle for Eniwetok in the drive across the Pacific. At the right, he appears on his post-war job as a mechanic. Pellow returned home last October, and although he still hasn't found a civilian suit to replace his leatherneck uniform and dungarees, he has a bride, his childhood sweetheart, the former Shirley Henry. Atomic Heroine

Hitler might have had an atomic bomb if he hadn't persecuted Jews, and among them, Dr. Lise Meitner, eminent Austrian physicist. While engaged on atomic research, with the splitting of the atom within her grasp, she was exiled from Germany as a non-Aryan. She is credited with providing critical data which greatly aided Allied scientists in speeding production of the atomic bomb. Dr. Meitner is pictured above, on her recent arrival in the U. S.

Ace Mediator

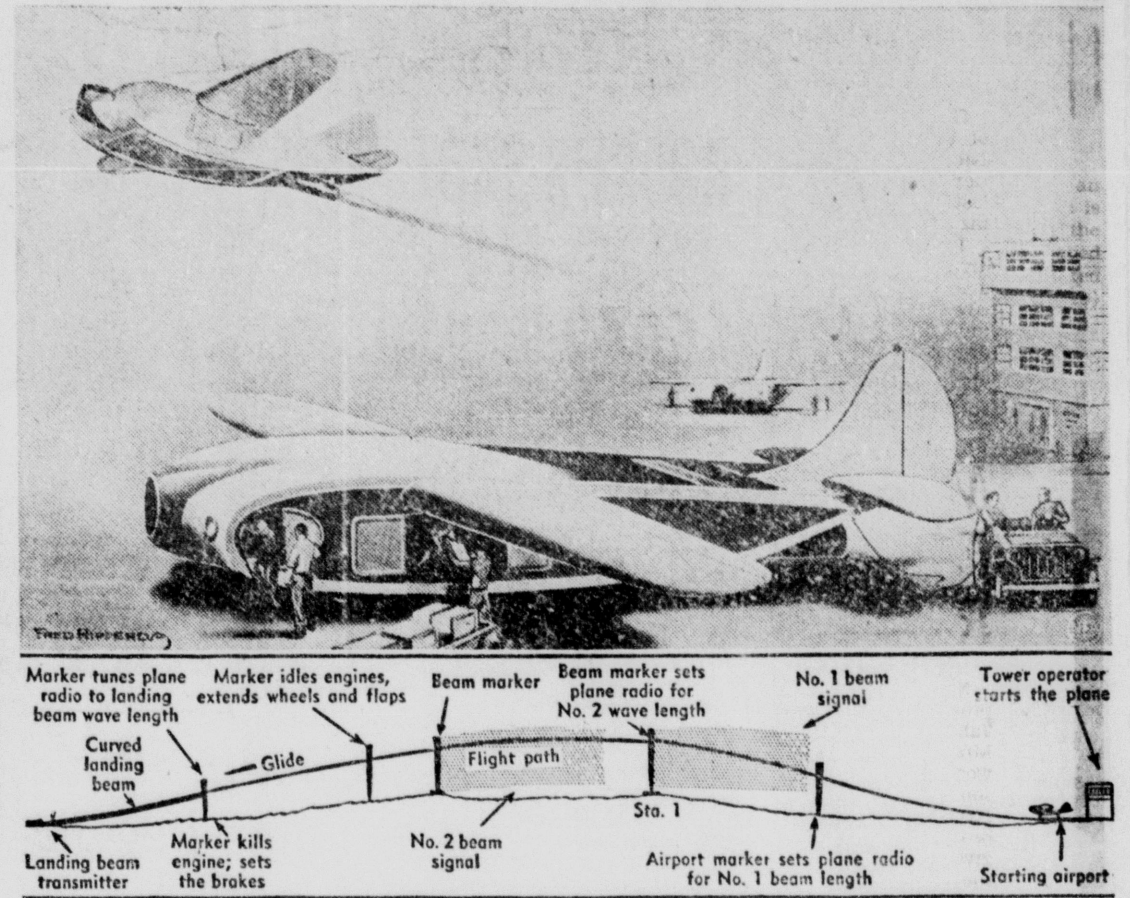

Hope for early settlement of the General Motors strike was raised with the appointment, as special mediator, of James F. Dewey. The 59-year-old Labor Department veteran is famous for his successful service in many important strikes in the coal, steel and automobile industries, dating back to the anthracite strikes of 1926.

Here's Peek at Future—Radar-Controlled Air Freighters

Huge, pilotless freight planes, like the one in photo above, are seen as real possibilities for speedy transportation of cargoes between cities. As visualized, the crewless cargo ships will be completely controlled from the ground by radar. Diagram at bottom shows how beam signals, set up by ground transmitters set suitable distances apart, will guide the planes along their routes.

WHEN THIS AUTOMOBILE, driven by Lt. Alvin K. Wilson of Santa Anna, Calif., skidded in Hempstead, N. Y., it wrapped itself in complete right-angle effect around an electric light pole. SPORT CHATTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Selling note: About 3,800 of the cheaper tickets for the Notre Dame-N. Y. U. basketball game at the garden a week from Saturday go on sale today. The rest already are gone. Concrete blocks are being used to erect a fence around the Red Sox training field at Saratoga, Fla. Does that mean they're going to try Rudy York in the outfield?

BORED OF EDUCATION

Mike Jacobs' publicity staff is taking the boxing writers and assorted members of the fight job out to Seton Hall college today to watch Red Cochrane train. No doubt it will be an education for some of the boys, but the pros are cautioned to keep a tight grip on their sheepskins or some of the mob will be claiming college degrees.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Curly Lambeau, who thought he was taking a big chance when he made Minnesota Bruce Smith his fifth choice on the football draft list, has been feeling pretty good since Bruce got out of the Navy and signed a two-year contract with the Packers. Besides improving their grandstand, the San Francisco Seals plan to have a band playing at every game next season... That probably proves the Coast league isn't the majors—where a scratch record is enough for most clubs.

Basketball Topic For High School Assembly

Using members of his varsity basketball squad a demonstration crew, Coach Robert Miller, Salem High school canteen, will show high school students examples of the more common personal fouls called in every basketball contest at an assembly in the High school auditorium Friday morning. He will also attempt to explain the various changes made in basketball rules this season.

Quakers Bow Once More To Alliance Five

ROOSE'S SHOT MAKES FLIERS 39-37 WINNER

Aviators Overhaul Salem With Fourth Period Point Splurge

Freeman Roose's long shot from the left side-count in the final second of play foiled Salem's bid for its fifth victory of the season last night on the Mount Union hardwood as the Quakers bowed to the Alliance Aviators for the second time this year, 39-37.

With only seconds to play and the locals trailing by a 37-36 count, Jimmie Laughlin was fouled by Roose and converted the toss to tie the count at 37-37.

The buzzer sounded a few seconds later and the majority of the fans in the crowded fieldhouse considered the game a deadlock but play still continued. The Aviators took the ball out of bounds and put it into play.

Roose received the ball and flipped one in from the side to break the tie. The buzzer sounded again and the game was an Alliance win.

Several arguments broke out after the game's conclusion as partisans of the two schools milled about the floor debating whether the tilt had actually ended before the game-winning shot.

Salem Attack Dies

After speeding into a 14-8 edge in the first quarter on the sparkling play of "Mo" Hollinger and Bob Pater, the Quakers fizzled miserably shortly before halftime when Alliance cut a 24-14 Salem lead to 25-22 just before intermission.

The two teams battled on even terms throughout the third frame as each tallied seven points and the Aviators took the lead for the first time on successive two-pointers by Dee Jones, Roose and Tony Marcello shortly after the beginning of the last quarter.

Pater and Johnny Fridon scored to zoom Salem into a 36-35 lead but Frankie Common retaliated with his only fielder of the game to send the Aviators in front once more by a single point.

It was at this stage of the contest that Laughlin tied the count with his foul toss only to see victory disappear in the confusion which followed shortly afterward.

Display Accuracy

The Aviators exhibited remarkable accuracy from the floor, flipping in 18 of 33 shots while the Quakers made good at the foul line, converting three of 11 tries while Salem could tally on only five of 14.

Pater sparked the Quaker attack as he added 12 points to his season's total while Roose was the big gun for the Flyers, caging five of six shots for a 10 point total. Dick Albright, Alliance's top scorer, collected only one field goal in two quarters of play.

The Quakers will meet East Liverpool for the second time this year on the High school boards at 8:45 p. m. Friday. The reserves will face the East Liverpool seconds in the preliminary.

Goodrich Five Trims Legion; Zone Cab Bows

Bob "Doggie" Scullion's sportsmanship cost his Ohio Grill quintet a ball game last night in one of three Class A games at the Memorial building when he allowed an undermanned Coppocks five to use Bill Hollinger throughout the last four minutes of play although the league's leading scorer was officially out of the game on fouls.

The Grills led throughout the contest and led by eight points when Hollinger committed his fifth foul of the evening. They held margins of 9-3 at the first quarter, 14-9 at intermission and 20-13 at the end of the third period.

Since Columbiana had but five men, Scullion permitted Hollinger to remain in the game.

Les Knepp, Mike Oana and Scullion racked up six points each to spark the Grills while Jones counted 13 tallies for Coppocks.

Legion Five Bows

The American Legion, conquerors of the previously undefeated Coppocks last week, were victims of Goodrich's second half rally and bowed, 41-36, for their first loss of the new round.

George Miskelly and Tommy Nedelka rimmed 23 markers between them to top Goodrich in the scoring column while Lou Miller and Don Schaffer, with 13 and 10 points respectively, were high for the Vets.

The Legion led 11-9 at the first quarter and 19-13 at halftime. The two teams were deadlocked at 27-27 when the third frame ended.

In the third Class A game of the evening, Greenford turned on the power to crush the Zone Cab, 35-19, as Knight, Detweiler and Yoder showed the way.

The win brought Greenford's percentage for the second round to an even .500 while the loss did likewise for the Cabies.

Don Decker's eight points took scoring laurels for the losers.

Sent To Floor of House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A far-reaching strike control bill was sent to the house floor today by the rules committee.

To U. S. Senate

CONGRESSWOMAN Clare Booth Luce of Connecticut may run for the senate on the Republican ticket in this year's national election, according to Washington observers. Now serving her third term as a member of the House of Representatives, Mrs. Luce is being boomed for the job by friends. It is stressed that she would not openly seek the nomination, but would accept it if it was tendered.

In addition to the direct benefits from the trade stimulus, he said, there will be "the added benefits derived from the ability of other nations to relax their restrictions once the United Kingdom has led the way."

Congressional approval of the President declared, would be "a great contribution to the establishment of a permanent state of peace and prosperity," and added:

"We are all aware of the dangers inherent in unchecked economic rivalry and economic warfare. These dangers can be eliminated by the firm resolution of this nation and the United Kingdom to carry forward the work which has been so well begun."

Says Russia Conducts War of Nerves In Iran

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain charged today that Russia had conducted what appeared to be a "war of nerves" in Iran and he endorsed an Iranian demand opposed by Russia, for the Security Council to take control of the Soviet-Iranian dispute.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., American member of the council, supported the British view as expressed by Bevin. Stettinius said he believed the council should keep the Iranian case on its agenda and retain jurisdiction over it.
